Hair tips and advice

Question: Hi I have fine curly shoulder length blonde hair. How or what would you recommend to add volume. I have tried mousse, volume hair spray, volume shampoo & cond. I use a hair dryer and rollers.

Answer: Hi, Try this for more volume: apply mousse all over then flip your hair upside down and blast with your hair dryer. Rollers will help also depending on the size you use; the bigger the roller the more volume. A good thing to remember too is this: less is more. Don't drown your hair with too much product as it can weigh the hair down and cause it to sit flat.

Question: I have fine hair but have damaged it by ironing and colouring it. So, for the past 5 months I have not coloured or used the iron on my hair, I don't even blow-dry it, I just let it dry naturally. But it still gets frizzy from the humid weather and really puffy from the cold as well. What can I do to stop my hair from getting so puffy and big? Cheers

Answer: Hi, To stop your hair from puffing up you need to use a smoothing product and I would recommend a cream, or a very small amount of a serum based product, as too much of it can result in oily hair. To find the right product, I would suggest that you ask your stylist which smoothing cream is best for your hair as they can see your hair firsthand and make the right decision based on the texture and type of your hair. For best results when styling, always remember to apply a small amount of product into the palms of your hands and then rub your hands together before running the product through the ends of your hair only.

If you want to say goodbye to frizzy hair for the next 3-5 months, then you should seriously consider getting the Global Keratin Brazilian Smoothing treatment done.
